Abbott Longford has been awarded the top Shingo Prize®, the international award for Enterprise Excellence, by the Shingo Institute at the Jon M. Huntsman School of Business at Utah State University. Abbott’s diagnostics manufacturing facility in Longford, Ireland, received the award, recognising the site’s initiatives to develop and maintain continuous improvement to achieve Enterprise Excellence.

The Abbott Diagnostics facility in Longford spans 135,000 square feet and is located on a 20 acre greenfield site on the outskirts of Longford town. The facility manufactures a total of 18 diagnostic reagent products for Thyroid Function, Fertility and Pregnancy, Cardiology, Renal and Metabolic. The history of Abbott Diagnostics is filled with examples of first-of-a-kind products and significant technological advancements.

The site has most recently been recognised by the Shingo Examiners as “progressing as one team with one heartbeat working together to improve processes and eliminate waste.” The passion and excitement for getting better daily was instilled in every individual at every level. During their recent Shingo challenge the Examiners observed that they could feel the passion from leaders, support teams and associates that continuous improvement was everyone’s job. They also concluded that many tools and principles in practice at Abbott displayed the behaviours of world-class performance.

As well as a world class Continuous Improvement culture the site has clear strengths in Visual Management, HSE, Supplier Development, Standard Work at all levels, Daily Management, Customer Commitment, Problem Solving, TPM and strong organisational alignment.
At SISU we have an unparalleled Shingo history of 15 years working with the Shingo Institute. Our consultants have over 67 years of Shingo experience, delivering over 60 Shingo workshops and guiding over 27 organisations to Shingo Prize recognition including 4 of the most recent Shingo Prize winners.

The Shingo Model™ is not an additional program or another initiative to implement; rather, it introduces Guiding Principles on which to anchor your current initiatives. Ultimately, the Shingo Model informs a new way of thinking that creates the capability to consistently deliver ideal results to all stakeholders in the pursuit of Enterprise Excellence.
